

FRONTIER DAY AT PRESCOTT WILL BE BIGGEST THING EVER STAGED

All Advance Information Has It That Prescott Will Be Scene of Throngs Coming from All Over the State and Southwest

July 1, 5, 6, 7, according to everyone who drifts in from Prescott, should be printed in large, slightly letters all over the state, along with the legend, "Stay, Cowboy," or "Come to Prescott," or some other equally as catching phrase.

Prescott has become so firmly settled in the notion that the Fourth of July can't be celebrated in any way but by attending the Frontier days there, that trying to argue a Prescottian out of it, is some job. They all swear that the celebration this year is going to be the biggest and busiest ever staged in that neck of the woods. Another thing peculiar about the situation is that it is not a bit hard to find Prescottians who will agree with them.

The celebration has grown to be sort of an annual affair. Each year it grows bigger and better, and each year larger crowds wend their way in that direction, bound to take in the celebration or bust.

The bucking contests and other cowboy sports will of course be among these present. Johnny Fredericks won the world's championship last year, and in order to hold his diamond studded medal, he has got to win again this year. There are any number of cow punchers in Arizona and elsewhere who have affirmed in an emphatic manner, that he is not going to hold it another year.

Among the contests will be a relay race, Pony Express race, free for all ladies race, cow pony race, steer riding contest, bareback broncho riding and whatever else the management can think up in the meantime.

ATTACK STATE GAME WARDEN

Sportsmen's Association Resolute Against Willard's Initiative Petition for New Game Law and Urge All Not to Sign It

Attacking "imaginary game laws" which State Game Warden G. M. Willard is alleged to have tried to enforce, and declaring him to be offensive to the sportsmen of the state, the local Sportsmen's association has gone on record opposing the proposed new initiative game law.

The substance of the association's stand in this matter, is found in the following resolution:

Whereas, the present State Game Warden of Arizona has ever since his appointment to the office, been most objectionable to the sportsmen of Arizona, by reason of his continued efforts to enforce imaginary game laws, and federal game laws or regulations, which court decisions in every case where the question has been raised have declared unconstitutional, and which federal regulations do not come within the jurisdiction or scope of work of said Game Warden, instead of enforcing the real Game Laws of Arizona, therefore,

Be It Resolved, by the Arizona Sportsmen's Association, in regular called meeting assembled, that we condemn the action of the state game warden in attempting to place upon the ballot at the next general state election certain proposed amendments to the game laws, which represent simply his own "pet" ideas and which are more stringent than the laws in any of the other states where game is less plentiful and in no sense voice the sentiments of the sportsmen of Arizona, who are the only people directly interested in the game laws.

Resolved, That we are opposed to the proposed amendment and especially to the game laws, which represent simply his own "pet" ideas and which are more stringent than the laws in any of the other states where game is less plentiful and in no sense voice the sentiments of the sportsmen of Arizona, who are the only people directly interested in the game laws.

STRAINED GROIN MAY KEEP RICHARDS OUT

Alma Richards.

The disabling of Alma Richards, Cornell's track star, has seriously hampered the school's chances in the approaching intercollegiate meet, and there is much gloom around Cornell. The rest of the track team are determined to make up through extra effort the loss of Richards, but it is understood on every side to be a rather hopeless undertaking. Coach Moakley is placing most of his confidence on his distance men. Richards is suffering from a strained groin.
